

Is life a beach?

7 de abril de 2021

“Beach” and “life” you know.

So, when is life a beach? When someone uses this expression, the mortal is saying that life is wonderful.

Last week, a British newspaper, The Daily Mail, used the phrase “life is a beach” to describe the Californian life that Prince Harry (from the British Royal Family) is having.

The origin of the saying is not known.

Of course, the opposite “life is not a beach” can be used, or “life is not a bed of roses” (la vida no es un lecho de rosas) would be another option to say the same. So, is your life a beach?